Postdoctoral Global Reach Program

1. Introduction

The Postdoctoral Global Reach Program is a research funding initiative of Universitas Indonesia designed to strengthen the University's research ecosystem by fostering international collaboration, enhancing research capacity, and increasing high-quality scientific publications. The program provides opportunities for outstanding Ph.D. graduates from domestic and international universities to conduct postdoctoral research at Universitas Indonesia under the supervision of a UI faculty member serving as the Host Researcher.

Through this program, Universitas Indonesia aims to expand global research partnerships, promote knowledge exchange, and contribute to the University's vision of becoming a world-class research university.

2. Objectives

The Postdoctoral Global Reach Program aims to:

1. Strengthen international research collaboration between UI and leading research institutions worldwide.
2. Enhance the quality and quantity of high-impact scientific publications.
3. Support the professional development of early-career researchers through postdoctoral research activities.
4. Expand international academic and research networks.
5. Improve the global visibility and research reputation of Universitas Indonesia.

3. Eligibility Criteria

A. Host Researcher

The Host Researcher must:

1. Be a faculty member of Universitas Indonesia holding a valid NIDN, NIDK, or NUPTK.
2. Be listed as an eligible Host Researcher in the official Postdoctoral Global Reach Host Researcher List (<https://bit.ly/global-reach-hosts-batch-2>).
3. Be willing to supervise and mentor the Postdoctoral Researcher throughout the program.
4. Have an established research track record relevant to the proposed research.
5. Provide academic supervision and access to the necessary research facilities throughout the duration of the program.

B. Postdoctoral Researcher

Applicants must:

1. Hold a doctoral (Ph.D.) degree.
2. Have published at least two (2) articles in Scopus-indexed international journals ranked in Quartile 2 (Q2) or higher, as the first author or corresponding author. Publications resulting from international research collaborations will be considered an added advantage during the selection process.
3. Submit a research proposal aligned with the Host Researcher's expertise and research group's roadmap.
4. Submit the following supporting documents:
 - Cover Letter;
 - Comprehensive Curriculum Vitae (including a full publication list);
 - Official Ph.D. Degree Certificate or Academic Transcript in English;
 - Research Proposal (maximum three pages);
 - Contact information for two referees, one of whom must be the Ph.D. supervisor;
 - Three selected publications (PDF) and other supporting documents; and
 - Recommendation Letter from the Host Researcher at Universitas Indonesia.
5. Commit to achieving the required program outputs.
6. Be willing to conduct the postdoctoral research on a full-time basis throughout the contract period.
7. Not hold a permanent full-time position at another institution during the postdoctoral appointment, unless prior approval is obtained from UI.
8. Prospective Postdoctoral Researchers who have not yet identified or established contact with a Host Researcher at Universitas Indonesia may seek assistance from the Directorate of Research Funding and Ecosystem (DPER) by contacting dper@ui.ac.id. DPER will facilitate the initial correspondence and assist in connecting applicants with prospective Host Researchers whose expertise aligns with the proposed research.
9. Applicants who already have an established connection with a prospective Host Researcher at UI are welcome to communicate directly with the Host Researcher regarding potential collaboration before submitting their application.

C. Key Performance Indicator (KPI)

The Postdoctoral Researcher is required to have at least two (2) first-author manuscripts accepted for publication by September 2027 in top-tier, Scopus-indexed Q1 journals (ranked in the top 10% of their Scopus sub-subject categories at the time of manuscript submission)

4. Application Procedure

- a. The applicant identifies and obtains agreement from a Universitas Indonesia faculty member listed as an eligible Host Researcher in the official Host Researcher List, available at <https://bit.ly/global-reach-hosts-batch-2> to serve as the Host Researcher.
- b. The applicant and the Host Researcher jointly prepare the research proposal.
- c. The applicant completes and submits all required application documents.
- d. Applications must be submitted online through the designated application portal (https://bit.ly/Postdoc_Global_Reach) no later than 16 October 2026 at 23:59 WIB (Western Indonesia Time).
- e. The Directorate of Research Funding and Ecosystem (DPER) conducts an administrative eligibility review.
- f. Eligible proposals will undergo scientific evaluation by independent reviewers.
- g. Successful applicants will be selected based on the evaluation results and the decision of DPER.
- h. Awardees are required to conduct the proposed research, achieve the program's Key Performance Indicators, and submit progress and final reports in accordance with the program requirements.
